Question 11, 12

Government of Spain

Covington assists the Government of Spain with U.S. legislative and related policy matters potentially affecting the interests of Spain with respect to sunken vessels and their remains including potential amendments to the Sunken Military Craft Act. Covington also serves as counsel to Spain in litigation related to sunken vessels and their remains, and related legal matters. On approximately December 8 to 10, 2015, James Goold spoke by telephone to reporters from El Pais, La Razon, and the New York Times, responding to requests for information concerning the announcement of the discovery of a shipwreck near Cartagena, Colombia.

Corporación Colombia Internacional

Covington & Burling LLP reviewed documentation provided by the foreign principal and the Colombian Ministry of Agriculture and consulted with relevant United States government agencies, and other stakeholders, to ascertain the current status of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's approval process for the export of Colombian crops to the United States, in light of the obligations the United States may have under the U.S.-Colombia Free Trade Agreement. The crops included hass avocados, peppers, watermelon, melon, mango and beef. Following this analysis, Covington & Burling LLP proposed specific steps that Covington would take, working with the foreign principal, to achieve the foreign principal's market access objectives.

Question 14(a)

Government of Spain

Covington & Burling LLP received payments from the Government of Spain for legal and related services that would not require registration under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.
